Description

Downloaded v1.6.0 from the website (.ZIP file, not the installer), intending to test another unrelated issue (which was fixed! woohoo!) and discovered a graphical glitch with the MK16 in-line parachute. As the attached file shows, the transparency between the chute lines carries through into the underside of the parachute. The yellow exterior displays correctly, as do the lines themselves. Sent another ship up with all of the available stock parachutes, and the yellow Mk16 is the only one with this issue.
