Description

Suggest it would be helpful, especially for newer players, to have a picture of the part to be tested in a part testing contract. Newer players frequently have to go back and forth from VAB to contract list to figure out what part the contracts are referencing, and would be helpful even for more experienced players.

What if clicking the part name in the contract tool opened the proper panel to the proper page, with the part outlined in white?

Or perhaps even went so far as to load the part as if you had clicked it in the parts panel?

Added a picture for clarity.

I have to support this Idea.

Good idea. Other options would be show the part in the contract panel, or if you pass the cursor over the name, it shows an image of the part.
