Pick up a Mainsail and greenlight it on one of the outer lower fuel tanks. Press x to enable symmetry. 100% crash rate for me. Not sure if this is only for me, but if I don't greenlight the mainsails first then it works fine. Also not too serious as there is a workaround.

I know this is old, but I have the exact same issue, and I've been able to reproduce it with the exact same craft.

KSP Version: 0.21.1 (Linux 32-bit Steam)
OS: Linux apollo 3.8.0-26-generic #38-Ubuntu SMP Mon Jun 17 21:43:33 UTC 2013 x86_64 x86_64 x86_64 GNU/Linux
GPU: GeForce GTX 660Ti x2 in SLI

See tyfon's description for reproduction.

I've just tried to reproduce the error. The reproduction description above didn't trigger the crash for me. However when I selected a non-singular symmetry (6-fold in my case) before greenlighting the part, then greenlight it and then pressed 'x' a couple of times, the crash did happen (with 0.21.1).
