Description

This basically happens every time you try to process experiments and turn them into data with the Mobile Processing Lab with enough free data storage for processing an experiment.

To replicate this you'll need a vessel with a mobile processing lab (and an empty data storage, or enough to accommodate the experiment you're trying to process) and some experiments available.

- 1)Click the button "Process in Lab Module" when reviewing an experiment
- 2)A progress message appears, with the percentage slowly going up and eventually finishing
- 3)Then the "Not enough data storage" appears, even though the data storage fills as it should

In ver 1.1, experiments are now consumed by the MPL -- which makes this message no longer appear.
