Description

Last mail notification I got from the bug tracker was sent on 9th August. Since then there were multiple updates that would warrant sending me a notification but none was delivered to me.

I have checked my settings in bug tracker and I should be receiving notifications.

I have checked my mail and there is no notification filtered out as spam. There is a few spam mails from after 9th August so I know I would be able to see them if they were filtered out.
