Description

Started a new mission in the mission builder and ran the test. Starts up in the VAB so the player can build their craft. I selected Mortimer Kerman to give the briefing and was presented with a flickering portrait. I managed to capture two screen shots that show the contrasting shades.

The attached mission is not complete yet (no scoring done) but included for your review as needed.

The faulty circuit has been fixed, and Kerbals should no longer flicker.

Looks like the darker image was kept, and a new window to see their 3D model during design was added too. This bug is fixed, but now I'm wondering why the PR guy is wearing a hazmat suit. Looks like he's afraid to interact with the public.
