Description

I submitted bug #18752 and recently received an email about updates to this report with added images. The problem is that now this report is no longer listed in "My Page" and clicking on the link for either the report or any of the images in the email results in a message that says I am not authorized access to that page. The Activity panel doesn't show any updates to this report either. I have seen this with other reports as well, but usually not the ones I submit.

One of your developers had sent me an email regarding job postings with Squad and to be able to access all of my bug reports would be nice for my portfolio when I am ready to apply.

Looks like that bug is gone, it was probably erased by mistake. Sorry for that.

If you have any info related to that bug please write it down again.
