Description
<ul style="list-style-type: none">After conducting the scientific experiment on any spacecraft, i will not be able to edit parts in VAB, transmuting the data with an antenna will trigger it or failing to do so then recovering the vessel will also trigger it, generally just saying "yes" to the "are you sure you about that" thingy will make the bug trigger .recovering the vessel after choosing to keep the experiment will not trigger it, processing the experiment in a mobile lab also will not; 100% of the time, the only way to fix this is to close the game entirely, then re enter.....*For a side note: my options are default all across it, using radial control.....Please patch this, getting science points early on makes it a bit harder with those two,and even more annoying onward if you want to get the best out of your spaceship , please patch this at your earliest convenience..... Edit: after I continued my play through....man....this thing just opens pandora's box! It gives 2 more bugs! sigh...*1: you will not be able to control the kerbel when he/she goes EVA. 2: if you retract your landing gear, it will loop the sound effect for eternity. Boy, this bug really do opens pandora's box, and am feeling that i have just scratched the surface of this shit hole, And who knows if there's more bugs from this bug!.....*Now if you ask me why it happens....I would point my fingers at the "assurance" thingy, you know? the one i already mentioned, i dont know nor i care how that pitiful thing can wrack so much havoc, maybe fixing it won't be easy, but a way to go around it? I dont have to be a game developer to know that going going around it would be much easier, you can just give us the option to "don't show this again", sure the bug will still exists, but it wont happen again since the pop up won't appear again, meaning you wont encounter the bug again! or.... you can just outright remove it, genius right!..*sigh....I went on for too long yea? .Again please fix this at your earliest convenience.....*PS: This bug may exist on the Xbox, but i don't have a friend there nor i have it my self, it would be nice for someone to confirm it.
