Description

There is two adapters which i think game needs:

- 1)Tiny to small.
- 2)Small to medium (short version)

Both of these adapters can be found on structures, i start getting tired to get them there and if i am making lander i don't need empty adapter part, instead fuel version could be nice and saves some space.

Heck why don't make it simple and give players ability to change size and shape of fuel tanks, to limit of their science tree ofcourse. This way we could get rid of many parts which are basically copies of each others.

I think this was the intention of the TweakScale mod. I imagine this wouldn't be too hard now with part variants.
