Description

It is possible to remotely transfer part between inventories when switching vessel while grabbing a part(even they are kilometers apart)
To reproduce:

- 1. you need at least three vessels (or kerbals), two vessels are in close proximity to each other
- 2. take control of one of these two vessels
- 3. grab a part from the inventory slot of the nearby vessel
- 4. switch to the third vessel that is far away
- 5. you can now put that part in the inventory slot of the third vessel

This looks like a not intended behavior because the part will be put back to the original slot if there are only two vessels
