Description

I deployed missile launcher (Rockomax BACC Solid Fuel Booster) on the runway, with a kerbal in the external seat in front of the rocket and a RC-001S Remote Guidance Unit as main controller. It was fun and all until i drove the kerbal and the rocket straight into the VAB, the screen turned black and i had to ctrl+alt+delete to end the game. When profile was loaded again, the screen where i usually saw the Kerbal Space Center is black as well, there's nothing to do, but i can exit to the main menu.

Running unmodded KSP on Win7 x64, i5 4670k, nvidia 770gtx, 8gb ram, and all the drivers up to date.

The last (hilarious) moments of the kerbal and this game profile:

This bug is reproducible on my pc, smashing any spaceship controller pod into the VAB, destroying both.

Could you please zip up the folder that contains the files for this save and attach it?

What happens when you make a new save? When you updated to .25, did you let the patcher do the updating or download a complete install from the Store?

I'm a steam player, and i let steam handle all the updating fuss. For this 0.25 patch i've created a fresh new player profile. I sadly threw the player profile away, because i was unable to do anything with it.
