

Kerbal Space Program - Bug #4862

Farings construction leading to unclickable craft

Description

In the VAB, completing the construction of a faring occasionally results in the craft becoming impossible to register a left-click on (effectively making craft parts impossible to remove or rearrange). Left-clicks on any GUI elements and menus continue to behave normally, and right-clicks continue to work properly everywhere (even on craft parts).

Exiting to the main menu and reloading the save does NOT fix it. It requires a complete relaunching of the game.

I just confirmed it's still an issue in KSP 1.0.2.

Attaching another Player.log.
