Description

When I am dealing with Mobile Processing Labs, I am almost always dealing with large numbers of experimental results (often 250 to 500 of them). After processing perhaps only one of them, I always want to keep all the rest. But I have to click the "keep data" button 500 times to do it. It is very annoying, and actually makes me reluctant to process MPL experiments, even when it would be beneficial to do.

This also occurs on rare occasions when I want to view the experiments stored in some pod. Once I find the experiment that I'm looking for, I just want to keep all the rest of them -- which may involve clicking the "keep" button 30 times or more.
